THE COLLEGE OF WOOSTER

April 26–May 13, 2013

STUDIO ART SENIOR INDEPENDENT STUDY GROUP EXHIBITION

The Senior Independent Study (I.S.) at The College of Wooster is a year-long project with one-on-one support and guidance by a faculty advisor. For studio art majors, the culmination of this in-depth experience is a one-person exhibition from which The College of Wooster Art Museum's curator selects work for the group exhibition.

Each spring, the College cancels classes to host the Senior Research Symposium, a day-long, campus-wide celebration of Independent Study. Students in the Studio Art group exhibition will be present in the CWAM's Sussel Gallery from 1:00-3:00 p.m. on Friday, April 26 to discuss their projects, along with senior art history majors Emily Mitchell, Megan Piemonte, and Emily Timmerman. Please join us for this special celebration of student research.
